This Week

It has been lovely to have the children back in school and to hear about their half term adventures. We came back to a special delivery and were all excited to discover it contained caterpillar pots. The children shared their knowledge of caterpillars and butterflies and decided how we could keep the caterpillars safe in the classroom. There have been some fantastic observations recording the changes noticed over the past few days. We wonder what they will look like after the weekend?

In maths, we have been comparing amounts and using our knowledge of 'one more' and 'one less' to find the missing number in a sequence.

Our PSED and literacy focus next week will be thinking about things we did when we were babies and things we might do when we are older. It be lovely to have baby photos of the children that they can look at during discussions. If you are happy to share, please put them on Tapestry or send in a print that we can photocopy. Thank you.

Our Poetry Basket this week is Sliced Bread.

Messages

The weather has changed a lot this week! Please ensure you're child is sent into school with a hooded coat and a sun cap, prepared for the weather.

A friendly reminder for children to leave toys at home.
