Dear mummy and daddy,

I'm here in Scotland, lying on my new bed, furthest away from the window. It's just after dinner (fruit forest gato for pudding!) I have a few hours 'til bed so I decided to write to you so I can tell you all went well and I arrived on time and safely. I can't wait to tell you about my adventures!!!

The journey on the train was so fun, me and a friend, I made in the train, nearly missed our stop! We played chess ♠ 'til a bossy boy came along, showing off, which I found annoying, very annoying. But other than that it was great.

The boat trip was so terrifying it was like a horror movie: I had to go on my own in a futuristic boat in pitch black!!! I found it utterly terrifying, but fun all the same.

When we arrived, I saw a ghostly, lifeless abandoned, wreck, on the cliff, gleaming yellow. Turns out the ghostly, lifeless, abandoned, wreck was the school itself!

Please don't worry 😊, everything is A-OK! I will be safe in the new school. I look forward to see you soon,

Love from,

Niko.
